

Purposes:

1. Develop a regional, public accessible resource to demonstrate effective land stewardship activities.
2. Demonstrate new stewardship technologies and techniques, and the effectiveness of application.
3. Promote public education of land stewardship activities through the demonstration of habitat design, vegetative composition, wildlife management, soil conservation, and sustainable forest management.
4. Provide an environment conducive to the cooperation of public and private entities that share the same values of responsible land stewardship.
5. Provide quality outdoor recreational opportunities that are engaging with limited barriers.

Goal:

The Northeast Missouri Environmental Stewardship Demonstration Area is a regional cooperative project that will provide a consolidated venue for multiple responsible stewardship and recreational disciplines. Through collaborative efforts and partnerships, the area will serve as an avenue for public and private entities to demonstrate innovative and effective stewardship technologies, share knowledge, provide educational experiences to a regional audience, and promote quality outdoor experiences.
